

Sufficiency: infrastructure to support change

Dr Joanne Wade

joanne.wade09@gmail.com

Individual action or communal change?

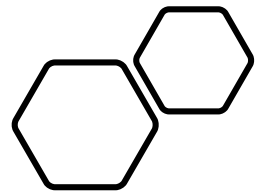

- There is a limit to what we can achieve alone: turning off the lights isn't enough
- Public authorities have to enable the changes in lifestyle that we want and need

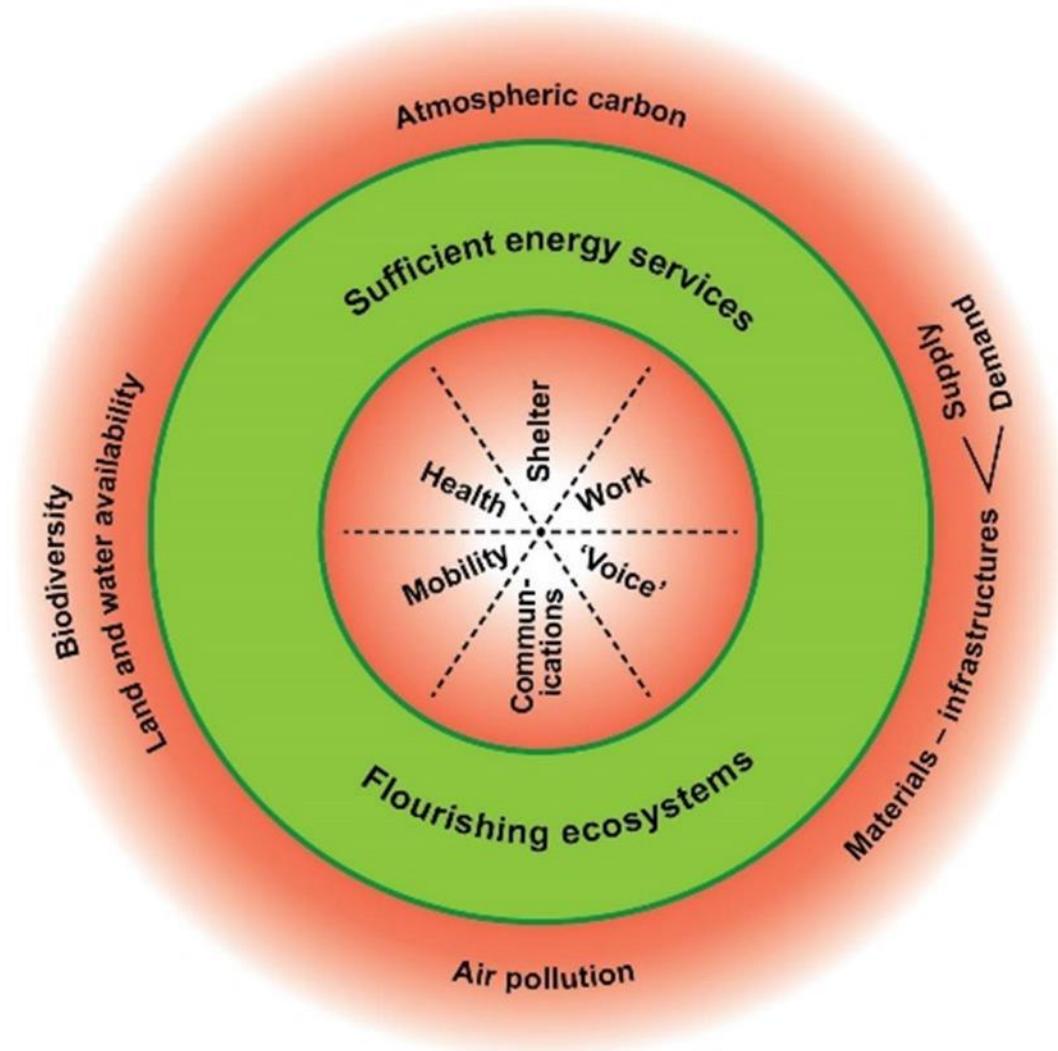

Physical infrastructures

- It's about much more than energy...

Building consensus on where we want to be

Governance: Decentralisation and democratisation

Governance: decision making for sufficiency

Swedish Energy Agency / Anthesis

<https://www.anthesisgroup.com/scatter-greenhouse-gas-tool-offers-a-quicker-easier-solution-for-cities-to-deliver-comprehensive-climate-action/>

Cornwall Council

<https://www.circularonline.co.uk/case-studies/cornwall-takes-the-wheel/>

C40 Cities

https://www.c40knowledgehub.org/s/article/Creating-City-Portraits-A-methodological-guide-from-the-Thriving-Cities-Initiative?language=en_US

Decarbonisation and post-COVID recovery

'We are committed to growing an inclusive, net-zero economy... a more cohesive and resilient economy that improves opportunities, life chances and wellbeing of every citizen in our country'

Scotland's Just Transition Commission

'We will level up our country, so the map of our whole United Kingdom is lit up with competitive cities and vibrant towns that are centres of life – places people are proud to call home, with access to the service and jobs they need to thrive'

Boris Johnson, UK Prime Minister

Foreword to 'Build Back Better – our plan for growth'

Thank you

www.energysufficiency.org

